COMMUNITY CHOIR CALL OUT

Would you like to be part of a choir supporting a ground breaking new theatre show on a professional stage?

Disciples is a joyful, dynamic performance that uses movement, poetry and music to take up space. Devised by the cast, Disciples is a pioneering production from Stellar Quines, centring the stories and artistic expression of D/deaf, neurodivergent and disabled women and non-binary people.

The choir will perform at our opening performances at the Traverse Theatre, Edinburgh. More information here:
https://stellarquines.co.uk/show/disciples

The choir is led by Louise Martin and the show is Directed by Rachel Drazek and Ellen Renton.

We are looking for people who identify as female, non-binary, gender fluid/gender queer to join our choir and perform as part of our performances in Edinburgh this October. Must be 18 years or older.

Do you love singing but haven't had the chance in a while? Do you love performing but have never sung on stage? Are you part of a local singing group? Or an experienced singer or choir leader?

All experience levels welcome.

Commitment

This is a voluntary role. We ask choir members to commit to:

1. Attending at least 3 rehearsals in Edinburgh in Sept/Oct
   Dates and times below.
2. At least one performance at the Traverse Theatre (but more if you can)

Disciples is committed to making this opportunity as accessible as we can - should you have any requirements or concerns about getting involved please contact: robyn@stellarquines.co.uk
